2 History of the Exodites

When Eldar civilisation neared its end, a number of Eldar groups denounced the decadence born of Chaos and abandoned their homeworlds in a series of migrations known as the Exodus, calling themselves the Exodites.

Those who joined the Exodus came from every layer of Eldar society but were united in their determination and their powerful will to survive. Most travelled east, crossing the galaxy as far from the main Eldar population centres as they could. The Exodites were aware of the dangers of hedonism, and so they chose to settle worlds where life would be hard, so as to avoid the trap of indolence. Among the Exodites, the Eldar nature is expressed as a powerful loyalty to one's clan and a strong determination to achieve one's goals.

The struggle to survive on these worlds is difficult. To cope with these conditions, some Exodites converted their graceful war machines into working tools in order to tend herds of gigantic animals called Megadons. A warrior elite gradually developed a system of rank and honour. Exodite society has returned to a near-barbaric state, following the herds across the plains in an endless hunter-gatherer existence, concealing its advanced technology behind a primitive way of life.

In time, the craftworlds sought out the Exodites and offered them a place aboard. The Exodites answered their brothers coldly and preferred to remain where life is simple, harsh, and danger is ever-present. Although the craftworlds and Exodite colonies trade with one another, the Exodites maintain that the easy life of the craftworlds is dangerously close to that which led their race to the Fall.

Craftworld Eldar regard the Exodites as rustic and simple, but also vigorous and savage, quite unlike their own introverted society.

The Eldar Path determines the way of life for every craftworld, but not for the Exodites. For this reason they seem savage and individualistic, far more independent of mind and adventurous than their cousins. More importantly, Exodite societies are more rigorous and physical than those of the craftworlds. Where the latter cling to the past and preserve all they can of their fallen civilisation, the Exodites have turned their backs on ancient tradition for a simpler but more difficult way of life. Their minds are stricter, more rigid, but also less subtle and perhaps less powerful than those of the craftworlds. Yet they have survived, and of all Eldar they have the greatest chance of continuing to do so.

3 Special Rules

3.1 Scout

If the Exodites form your primary army, choose one of the following abilities at the start of the battle, before objectives are placed.

- For every complete 3 detachments with the Scout ability, the Exodite player chooses one Class 1 to 3 detachment that gains the Infiltration ability (the chosen detachments need not themselves have the Scout ability).

In addition, the player gains 2 orders in reserve as if the army had a detachment with the Master Strategist ability.

- Exodite Class 1 and 2 bases gain the Camouflage ability for turn 1 only.
- The Exodite player may place one forest for every complete 2 detachments with the Scout ability, to a maximum of 3 forest areas, at the same time as fortifications. Each feature may measure no more than 10×10 cm and may be placed anywhere on the battlefield except on another terrain feature.
- For every complete 2 detachments with the Scout ability, the Exodite player chooses one enemy Class 1 to 4 detachment, which must receive an Advance order on turn 1.

3.2 Forester

Exodites suffer no movement penalty when they move through forests.

4 Special Abilities

4.1 Holo-Field

Some units use a protection system known as a Holo-Field. This device wreaks havoc upon targeting systems and makes the unit difficult to hit. The field's dispersion and the distortion it produces depend on both the mass of the unit and the speed at which it is moving.

A Holo-Field grants Protection (X+) against all shooting, depending on the order of the base it protects.

Protection	Order
5+	First Fire / Immobilised
4+	Advance / Fall Back
3+	Charge / Forced March

5 Psychic Powers

5.1 Visionary

5.1.1 The Executioner

[Combat Phase]: The Visionary projects its mind out of its body and launches an attack against its enemies. Designate an enemy base within 45 cm and in Line of Sight. Immediately resolve an assault against it. This is a Psychic Attack with an AF of +4. Psychic Saves must be made before the assault is resolved in order to cancel the effect. The Visionary receives the bonuses for previous attackers and also counts among the previous attackers for subsequent opponents of its target. The attack counts as being in assault from a Class 2 base.

5.1.2 Fortune

[Movement Phase, upon activation]: The Visionary looks into the near future to predict enemy attacks. Designate an allied detachment within 12 cm. That detachment gains 3 Fortune counters, which function as Elite counters for this turn.

5.1.3 Heal

[Movement Phase, upon activation]: The Visionary may attempt to heal wounded bodies. It gains the Medic ability until the end of the turn.

8 Infantry

8.1 Fusiliers

Fusiliers are the troops employed by the Exodites. In civilian life they dwell upon the baron's lands and must repay him by fighting in his army whenever he deems it necessary. They have the Infiltration ability.

Movemen	Save	AF	Morale	Weapon	Range	Dice	To-Hit	AP
10 cm	–	+0	6	Shard Carbine	45 cm	1	5+	0

8.2 Exodite Warriors

Warriors are the most common close-combat troops of the Exodite war hosts, mixing warriors and hunters who go to war under the command of their Baron.

Movemen	Save	AF	Morale	Weapon	Range	Dice	To-Hit	AP
10 cm	–	+1	6	Shuriken Pistol and Sword	20 cm	1	5+	0

8.3 Scouts

Scouts are the Exodites' standard scouts. They are formidable snipers and are quick to delay enemy armies with exemplary efficiency.

Scouts are a remarkable asset for the Exodites.

They have the Scout, Free Deployment, Sniper, and Camouflage abilities.

Movemen	Save	AF	Morale	Weapon	Range	Dice	To-Hit	AP
10 cm	–	+1	6	Long Rifle	75 cm	1	4+	0

8.4 Travois

An Exodite Travois is an anti-grav platform drawn by a dragon. It is used for a single purpose: to deploy the weapon rapidly, fire, and then move once more.

All Travois have the Fire on the Move ability. In addition, the Travois with a Starcannon Battery has the AA ability, and the Travois with a Missile Launcher is Artillery and has the Reduces Cover (−1) ability. Travois cannot be transported.

Starcannon Battery

9 Cavalry

9.1 Baron

Barons may be the lords of their territory or a member of the lord's family, often a son seeking to prove himself. The Baron does not merely command the army: he owns it. It is composed of his retainers and of the people who dwell upon his lands. The forces at his disposal symbolise his status and his wealth. Barons are armed with a laser lance and equipped with a wraithbone shield.

Barons have the Leader, HQ, Attached Character, Elite (1), and Lance (5+/AP -1) abilities.

Movemen	Save	AF	Morale	Weapon	Range	Dice	To-Hit	AP
20 cm	4+/6+f	+6	Attached	Shuriken Pistol	20 cm	2	5+	0

9.2 Dragon Knights

Dragon Knights are the most common troops in a Baron's service. They are generally the young members of the clan whose peacetime role is to watch over the herds. In battle they ride the most common and easiest mount, for they are not trained to other steeds. Dragon Knights are armed with a laser lance and a wraithbone shield. They have the Infiltration ability.

Movemen	Save	AF	Morale	Weapon	Range	Dice	To-Hit	AP
20 cm	–	+2	6	Shard Carbine and Lance	45 cm	1	5+	0

9.3 Lethosaur Knights

Lethosaurs are smaller than Dragons, with chameleon-like skin. They are ridden by scouts who need to close with the enemy while avoiding direct contact.

They have the Scout and Infiltration abilities.

Movemen	Save	AF	Morale	Weapon	Range	Dice	To-Hit	AP
25 cm	–	+1	6	Plasma Carbine	30 cm	1	4+	–1

9.4 Pterosaur Knights

Pterosaurs are the only truly flying creatures on most Exodite worlds. Pterosaur Knights are used as reconnaissance troops when other scouts are hindered by the terrain. Their principal role is to swoop down upon the enemy and bring support where it is needed.

They have the Antigrav and Deep Strike (2) abilities.

Movemen	Save	AF	Morale	Weapon	Range	Dice	To-Hit	AP
25 cm	–	+2	6	Shard Carbine	45 cm	1	5+	0

9.5 Raptor Knights

Raptors are extremely agile insectivorous bipeds, large enough for a rider but of slight build. They are the most common scouts of Exodite armies and are also used as combatants thanks to their excellent reflexes and vicious temperament.

They have the Scout and Infiltration abilities.

Movemen	Save	AF	Morale	Weapon	Range	Dice	To-Hit	AP
25 cm	–	+3	6	Sword and Pistol	20 cm	1	5+	0

9.6 Dragoons

Dragoons are formed from the finest soldiers of the Baron's household. They are most commonly employed to break enemy lines, but they are equally formidable in shooting with their plasma carbines, which can pierce armour. Dragoons are armed with a laser lance and a wraithbone shield.

Dragoons have the Infiltration, Elite (1), and Lance (5+/AP 0) abilities.

Movemen	Save	AF	Morale	Weapon	Range	Dice	To-Hit	AP
20 cm	5+	+4	5	Pistol and Lance	20 cm	1	5+	0

9.7 Salamander

The fire-breathing Salamander holds great importance in Exodite myth, having much in common with the traditional dragons of Eldar legend. Their breath has enormous destructive power, immolating unwary targets. It has the Infiltration ability. Its weapon has the Reduces Cover (−3) ability.

Movemen	Save	AF	Morale	Weapon	Range	Dice	To-Hit	AP
15 cm	–	+1	6	Fire Breath	45 cm	2	4+	0

9.8 Visionary

Exodite Visionaries have the powers of the spirits at their disposal and are among the Psykers of greatest potential in the galaxy. Because their race is in phase with psychic energies and respectful of the spirits of the dead, they are feared by other Eldar. Visionaries wear spirit armour fashioned from the wraithbone of the world-spirit itself. Visionaries have the HQ, Psyker, Attached Character, and Psychic Save (4+) abilities. In addition, a Visionary may use one of its powers each turn.

Movemen	Save	AF	Morale	Weapon	Range	Dice	To-Hit	AP

9.9 Vyper Transport

The Vyper Transport is an adaptation of the Vyper created for the Exodites' needs, imitating the Venom transport used by the Harlequins. The shuriken cannon has been replaced by an open transport deck, turning it into a light transport.

The Vyper Transport has the Antigrav, Transport (1), Attached Transport, and Open-Topped abilities.

10 Walkers

10.1 Combat Walkers

The Asuryani use many forms of bipedal war machine. The smallest and lightest are designated Combat Walkers. These single-seat walkers are akin to the Sentinels of the Imperial Guard, but they are far more agile, for the machine's sophisticated gyroscopic stabilisation and articulated feet allow it to cross the most broken ground at speed. They also possess greater firepower with which to destroy the enemy. The role of these machines is to conduct aggressive reconnaissance. Once the enemy has been located, the Combat Walkers hasten to pin it in place.

They have the Infiltration ability.

25 cm	5+	+1	6	Bright Lance	75 cm	1	4+	-2
				Scatter Laser	20 cm	3	5+	0

10.2 Reconnaissance Walkers

The craftworlds use jetbikes for reconnaissance and rapid attacks. The Exodites use Reconnaissance Walkers, able to withstand the sudden storms that sweep the verdant steppes and to pass through dense undergrowth. They are more lightly armed than war walkers and lack their protective energy shields. Combined with their speed, this makes them ideal for lightning attacks.

They have the Scout and Free Deployment abilities.

11 Vehicles

11.1 Pentasaur

These herbivores take their name from the cluster of horns upon their heavily armoured heads. In addition to their bony carapace they have very thick hide, a high tolerance for pain, and a surprising number of redundant internal organs. Combined with a slow nervous system, these traits render them almost insensible to damage. The Exodites mount a twin Maelstrom Laser upon their backs and use them as the equivalent of a tank destroyer. All Pentasaur weapons have the Turret ability. The Maelstrom Missile Launcher version has the Battery, Artillery, and Reduces Cover (–1) abilities. The Flamer of the Thermal Lance version has the Reduces Cover (–3) ability.

12 Knights

12.1 Carnosaur

It is the fiercest of all the Dragons ridden by the Exodites. The Carnosaur can reach 10 metres in height and is a terrifying spectacle to behold. It is a predator: it stalks its prey and kills without mercy. The beast walks upon its powerful hind legs and uses its long tail for balance, which means it can move at astonishing speed for its size. The Carnosaur has a large reptilian head, and its long teeth are sharp enough to tear easily through flesh and bone. They are used to spread terror through the enemy ranks; ridden by two brave warriors, they charge in, causing carnage and terrible destruction.

Carnosaurs have the Integral Armour, Wounds (2), Fear, and Damage (+1) in Assault abilities.

12.2 Bright Knights

These Knights resemble great horses with a humanoid torso in place of the head. They exist in two versions. The Bright Stalker is equipped with a Bright Lance and a Pulse Laser.

The Bright Stallion has the Lance (3+/AP -2) ability. Both versions have the Wounds (2), DR (6+), and Holo-Field abilities.

12.3 Fire Knights

These are bipedal Knights with two arms and various weapons. The Fire Knight exists in three versions. The Fire Gale is equipped with two Bright Lances, while the Fire Reaper uses a Reaper Laser and a Scatter Laser, and the Fire Storm is equipped with a Missile Launcher.

The Fire Storm's Missile Launcher has the Artillery ability. All versions have the Wounds (2), DR (6+), and Holo-Field abilities.

13.1 Megadon

Megadons are enormous omnivorous reptiles. The Exodites use this species because of its relative intelligence. The Megadon responds to simple orders from the driver on the howdah, situated on the creature's back. The military application of such beasts is obvious: in battle they make excellent mobile heavy-weapons platforms, combining long-ranged artillery with a terrifying close-combat capability. The problem with Megadons is that they are just animals, and if they are gravely wounded they do not always continue to obey the driver.

Megadons have the Integral Armour, Wounds (4), and DR (5+) abilities.

The Assault version also has the Transport (6) and Open-Topped abilities. Its Heavy Thermal Lance has the Turret and Damage (+1) abilities. Its Flamers have the Reduces Cover (-3) ability.

The Support version's Twin Star Lance has the Turret and Damage (+1) abilities.
